

HGM Client Tech Stack Guide

The systems our clients' properties run on, what each one does, and the names you're most likely to hear on a call: eight categories, eight vendors each, with the other boxes each one sells and a question to ask about it. It goes with the HGM Industry Acumen Dictionary: the dictionary defines the categories, and this guide puts names and logos to them.

1 THE FOUR CORE SYSTEMS

Every property runs some version of these four. Many vendors sell more than one, so ask what an owner uses a system for, not just its name.

01 PMS property management system

The front desk's system: every reservation lives in it, guests are checked in from it, and the night's numbers come out of it. Everything else in the stack connects to the PMS.

On a call: "Which PMS are you on? That tells us what we can connect to."

ASK Are your cabins or rentals run through Guesty, separate from the main building?

02 Channel manager one feed of rates and rooms to every OTA

Sends the property's rates and availability out to every OTA at once, and brings their bookings back, so a room sold on Booking.com disappears from Expedia before it is sold twice.

On a call: "Which booking engine is on your site? That's where our tracking has to live."

① One name, several boxes

Cloudbeds sells all eight jobs (pricing, rate shopping and CRM as paid add-ons). SiteMinder sells six: not a PMS (its small-property PMS is a separate product, Little Hotelier) and not a CRM. Mews sells six: everything except rate shopping and CRM. So "we're on Cloudbeds" still doesn't tell you what they use it for. Ask.

3 THE REST OF THE STACK

Other systems you'll hear about, with the definitions from the dictionary.

Distribution

CRS (central reservation system)

The rate and inventory brain above the PMS, mostly at multi-property operations.

With several properties, a CRS keeps rates and availability in step across all of them.

OTAs and niche marketplaces

Booking.com, Expedia, Airbnb, Vrbo, plus Hipcamp, Glamping Hub, Mr & Mrs Smith.

Which OTAs and niche marketplaces are you listed on — just the big ones, or glamping sites too?

Direct-booking conversion tools

Price comparison and nudges on the property's own site; Triptease, The Hotels Network.

A direct-booking conversion tool shows guests they're getting the best price on your own site.

Reputation and benchmarking

Reputation tools

Review aggregation and response; Revinate, TrustYou.

A reputation tool pulls all your reviews into one place so nothing goes unanswered.

Benchmarking tools

Comp-set performance reporting; STR (part of CoStar) for hotels, KeyData for vacation and short-term rentals.

A benchmarking tool would show how you compare with similar properties nearby.

Around the property

Campground and glamping systems

Newbook, Campspot — the world a glamping client's stack usually comes from.

Glamping clients often run on campground systems, which work differently from hotel software.

Spa booking systems

Scheduling and payment for treatments; Book4Time, Mindbody.

If spa treatments can be booked online, we can promote them in the pre-arrival email.

Activity booking systems

Scheduling and payment for tours, rentals and on-property experiences.

If guests book tours through an activity booking system, we can promote those experiences too.

Payments

Card capture and processing inside the PMS.

If payments are handled inside your PMS, deposits can be taken the moment someone books.

Accounting systems

Where the P&L is actually assembled.

Your accounting system is where the real P&L lives, so that's where the final numbers come from.

On HGM's side

HGM's own stack

GoHighLevel, ManyChat, Meta pixel and CAPI — what HGM connects into the above.

Our own stack is what plugs into your booking tools, so it helps to know which pieces we use.
